Gordon Wayne Watts Mr. Brown, PRES. TRUMP needs our help. Important>>> Mr. Brown, thank you, once again, for speaking with me a few months back when JC Martin was kind enough to invite me to your Republican club meeting. Anyhow, while I may have been a bit unclear on some complex topics (my apologies), rest assured I am totally against any free handouts and loan forgiveness for any loans (college loans or otherwise--more on that below). -- However, that is not why I write you: I know you have influence within the GOP, and are against PORK BARELL spending -- like me. So, here is where I need your help. Please take a look at this FORBES article from about 13.5 months ago...

"Trump Proposes Limits On Student Loan Borrowing," By Zack Friedman, FORBES, Tue. March 19, 2019: <https://www.Forbes.com/.../trump-proposes-limits-on-...>

OK, when it says "Loan Limits" it means loan limits on loans MADE or BACKED by our tax dollars... now, our "college debt" (something that I recall really bothered you -- as it does me!) is almost $2 Trillion, and this is almost ten (10%) percent of total U.S. Debt, which stands just north of $20t, ... Ten percent!

My point here? None of our lawmakers, even my excellent friend, Rep. Ross Spano, has filed a bill to cut spending on this unnecessary pork--even after I've repeatedly begged them. That's where you come in. Please go take a look at the "front-page" news on my namesake blogs, and see the article/petition I've posted about the PORK spending cuts Mr. Trump requested--and which were NOT granted, meaning we face a crisis when trying to pay for "necessary" things - like the USPS, which is about to shut down, like the COVID-19 funding we will be needing shortly, or the shortfall for the recent stimuli packages.

All I'm asking you is this: If you can get as angry as me, and "get a grip" on my request of lawmakers (simple: grant Trump's spending cuts request as documented above -- and on my websites, GordonWatts.com or gordonWAYNEwatts.com), then please call, write, e-mail, and VISIT all 4 of our U.S. lawmakers (Senators Rubio and Scott, and our central Fla House delegation, Reps. Congressman Greg Steube and Ross Spano), being polite (please) but FIRM, demanding they please pass this SIMPLE but necessary spending cuts request. I will owe you and your family and friends dinner if you can make headway here. (More importantly, you will be recorded in the history books as a key player in averting a crash of the dollar.) Now, regarding the bankruptcy matter -- I honestly think you misunderstood me: No hard feelings, but plz let me explain: I am against anyone getting out of paying back their loans, and putting in on the taxpayer. However, bankruptcy uniformity is not a free handout, but rather a constitutionally-guaranteed right: See ARTICLE 1, Section 8, Clause 4, the Uniformity Clause -- or Google it. If I were to try and take away your 2nd Amendment rights for no reason, that would be the same thing. In fact, if you have grandkids, ask them: College is no longer affordable, and as we tell them they must get an education, it would be like you needing - say - a heart operation, and having no option, in a monopoly, where price-gouging occurs. As an example, when I went to college, I took out a loan from the bank (not the government), and no taxpayer dollars were involved. Comrade Obama and his crony lawmakers used taxdollars without my approval to buy said loans. Furthermore, it was only when bankruptcy rights were removed from existing loan contracts incrementally that predatory lending and price-gouging occurred.

Think of bankruptcy uniformity (guaranteed by art1 sec8 cl4 of the U.S. Constitution) as "The Economic 2nd Amendment": When Liberal colleges knew students were defenseless to file bk, they price-gouged students -- who had no choice but to go to college. (You're old enough to remember: College was either free or very low cost when we were young, but it's super expensive now-days, so please don't put that blame on the kids: They either go to college and work HARD or are left out. It's not their fault that college is a Liberal price-gouging scam. It's Liberal colleges' fault!)

I can understand your mentality (they took out the loans, and they should pay them back), but with no disrespect meant: If a doctor told you that you had to have a heart operation, you'd take out the loan offered -- no matter the price. The kids of nowadays are in the same boat.

Anyhow, I did try to send you a message about Pres. Trump's dilemma, but you may have missed it (actually, our dollar WILL crash, Mr. Brown, if we can't convince our liberal RINO lawmakers to STOP this bleed out). Oh, 1 thing: While I oppose ANY free handout, there is a possible need for bankruptcy to be returned to student loans for Trump's request: His request, which is much-needed, will "shock" Liberal banks and colleges who rape the taxpayer and student of their daily bread -- but if students had bankruptcy, then then lender (the Dept of Education using OUR tax dollars!) would "think twice" before lending out (read: wasting) huge trillions, and this would "send a message" to Trump's enemies that the Free Market pressures of Bankruptcy Uniformity (a constitutional right!) would force down lending, and after the Liberal College/Bank megaplex saw the inevitable, then this would force them to back off. Then Pres. Trump's spending cuts would happen: They would "see the handwriting on the wall." Also, if we tell voters that we fight "tooth and nail" to protect Pres. Trump's rights to discharge bankruptcy multiple times for huge amounts -- and same with unsecured Credit Card debt - and stupid businesses -- but not college students -- we will lose Democrat "swing voters" who see us as hypocritical and hating Jesus' Golden rule: "Bankruptcy for me, but not for thee." And our refusal to grant the Trump spending cuts -- for which I seek your help -- will tick off and alienate our Conservative base! Thus, with angry voters on both sides, we will lose Senate, not regain House, and may even lose the oval office (not as likely because Trump is a true Conservative -- but most lawmakers are not). EXCEPTION: Ross Spano is receptive to all my ideas, and, while he still hasn't introduced legislation to grant Trump's request -- I assure you, Ross Spano is a true Christian, but if the GOP "as a whole" hates Trump and spits in his face with regard to his common-sense Pork cuts request, honestly the GOP is liberal and deserves to lose.

Again- apologies for any misunderstanding; you apparently thought I wanted to use tax dollars to bail out student loans. While I'm not for "loan forgiveness," it is true that those loans were already paid for by our tax dollars (we own -- not guarantee -- said loans), and therefore forgiveness would cost ZERO tax dollars and add nothing to Nat'l Debt. In fact, a Jubilee Forgiveness (a Bible concept -- Google it or ask your preacher) might even save Trillions of tax dollars, long-term, if it "shut down" the wasteful "Big Government" use of our tax$$ to make/guarantee loans for obscenely high amounts to students who can't pay price-gouge inflated tuition. Again, I am personally against 'en masse' forgiveness, but even this would be less costly than prior bailouts that used real tax dollars -- not mere forgiveness of already-paid toxic loans. Anyhow... to my main point:

 Please help me make Trump's request a reality -- and thereby regain the House and keep the Senate in Red State hands. You may -- if you like -- print out or email my petition, which is on my website. If I can be of any help, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Gordon Wayne Watts

Royal Brown III As Heritage Action Sentinels, my wife Glynnnda and I will do our best to influence our elected officials to curb their excess spending but the Chinese Communist Party Virus and the huge relief spending certainly haven't helped. People don't seem to realize that a Trillion $ is 1,000 Billion $ - Congress, including RINOs as well as Democrats have de-synthesized people to reckless spending.

Gordon Wayne Watts Correct. A trillion is 1 with twelve zeros after it, and it is also a million millions. (But you already knew that.) While I will admit that my "pet project" here (higher ed debt) may not be the worst example of Pork spending, it certainly is in the top 2 or 3. For example, some argue that we must stop the nation-building and military/defense pork, but Pres. Trump is already pulling out of foreign conflicts as fast as he can (and we can only cut so much because we must remain a "Strong America"). My petition has controversial aspects, but attacking both the excess spending and excess taxation (tuition is a type of tax, by definition-- funds going to arms of government- state gov't college) must be addressed. We are about to crash the Dollar and be unable to address several financial needs (COVID-19 and USPS for example) because we don't demand lawmakers cut off the Free handouts we give to Liberal colleges/banks on taxpayer backs with unnecessary (and harmful) student loans that only induce colleges to price-gouge the next generation).

I'm against and liberal free handouts or loan forgiveness/ free college, preferring instead the constitutional sound method of bankruptcy uniformity (aka the economic second amendment as a Free Market check on excessive student loan limits).. But that said, a massive cancellation might scare the lender (dept of ed using taxpayer$$) into putting a stop to America bleeding to death in spending. In fact, the 7-year Jubilee is in the Bible history of Isreal.

Sorry to be talkative, Royal, but us hemorrhaging to death in our pork spending is depressing when I know it would take only a few good patriots to convince lawmakers to put a stop to this preventable bleed out.

Gordon Wayne Watts I will add: An unnamed Legislative staff and a talk show host (Brian Kilmeade) both said that they can't look at or consider my pork cuts request now because of Covid-19, but with all due respect to both-- they are full of BULL: The COVID-19 makes my spending cuts request (also Trump's request) MORE necessary, not less.

I am livid with anger-- please excuse my emotion.
